

Wartburg In Tournament - Big Question Is Where?

By Ed Schaley

"See you at Vermillion."

That's the tentative cry of basketball fans at Wartburg this week, pending the outcome of the North Central Conference race and where Wartburg will play their first game in the NCAA regional play-offs.

For the fans who may be interested in making the trip to South Dakota, the Trumpet has the following information:

—Acting on the supposition that the tourney will be at Vermillion, S.D., an interview with Bill Slattery, public relations director at South Dakota University, revealed that housing situations in Vermillion are less than adequate.

—On the optimistic side, Slattery remarked that public housing in Yankton, (25 miles from the site) and Sioux City, Iowa, (35 miles from Vermillion) is more than adequate. He also said that some dorm housing and limited hotel space could be found in Vermillion for early comers.

—Eating facilities present no problem, as SDU has three dining halls offering meals at student prices and Vermillion has an adequate number of restaurants.

—The University Armory has a capacity of 3500. Tickets are expected to sell for $1.50.

—Headquarters for congregating Wartburg students and fans will probably be the South Dakota Student Union.

Press and radio coverage for the game are indefinite, though every possible alternative is being investigated by Wartburg officials. The Trumpet staff will be represented at the game and the possibility of KWAR radio is also being suggested in an effort to provide a game broadcast.

Coach Ax Bundgaard has set the tentative time for team departure at Thursday noon. Transportation for the Axmen will probably be by bus. Plans now call for a pep rally and send-off for this.

An alumni luncheon has been planned for Friday before the game. The Rev. Luther Meyer, Akron, is in charge of reservations for the luncheon to be held at the Evergreen Cafe in Vermillion.

From the administration come the following recommendations:

—There is a 4 p.m. Wednesday deadline for students signing to go to the game. In order to be excused from classes, students must register in the dean of students office.

—Girls planning to make the trip must obtain written permission from their parents before the deadline if they plan to stay overnight in public housing. In view of students planning to return to Wartburg immediately after the game Friday, Dean of Women Florence Hertlein remarks that arrangements for allowing girls' dates will have to be made.

—Suggested highway route for the trip is highway 3 west through Humboldt, Cherokee to LeMars. At LeMars, turn south on 75 to Sioux City, then west from Sioux City on 77 and 50 to Vermillion.

Bearing in mind the possibility that South Dakota University has two more conference games to play, the fact remains that S.D. State is mathematically still in the running for a conference tie. If this should happen, and a vote decides in favor of State, the regional playoffs would be held at Brookings which is north of Sioux Falls.

Two Scoreboards For SB Project

By Wilbur Flachman

Wartburg students voted Tuesday in convo to purchase two new scoreboards for Knights Gymnasium as their Student Body Project. Cost of the pair of new additions will total $1,800.

Student project chairman Bill Jurgens, senior, announced Wednesday that a total of 424 official ballots were cast. Balloting for the three choices was relatively close. Scoreboards' votes totaled 139. Checkout desk for the new library polled 124 votes and an outside bulletin board got the nod on 105 tickets.

"A GOAL OF $1,800 will be set to match the exact cost of the scoreboards," said Jurgens. "Plans are to inaugurate the program Monday, with the deadline scheduled for March 21," he continued.

The two new boards, as designed by the Fair-Play Co., will be combination wrestling-basketball sign, with the added facility for keeping individual scoring as well as team totals for wrestling.

March 28 has been set as the date for Wartburg's annual spring carnival. Sophomore Norm Litzner was named chairman of the event for this year.

STUDENT SENATORS will discuss several phases of the NCAA tourney at Monday's Senate meeting. Included in the topics will be the possibility of sponsoring a radio broadcast, either over KWAR or a Waterloo station.

Pop concert date has been tentatively changed to April 14 to accommodate Harry James, according to Don Hamilton, pops chairman. Senators will take action on approval of this move Monday night. The executive board will also submit for approval a recommendation asking the Student Union Council to allow for installation of a public telephone in the Student Union.

Student Body Pres. John Adix said Thursday that suggestions will be in order concerning what to do with Knight Sir Victor.

Said Adix, "We would like to devise some way to display him without worrying about him missing every other week."

Victor, a suit of Knight armor, was kidnapped last week by students from Luther College.

Lutheran Editor Visits Next Week

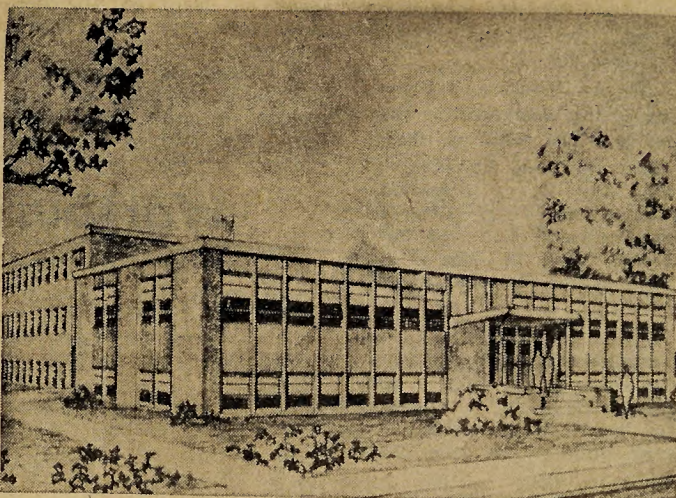

Omar Bonderud, former Wartburger, will be on campus Monday through Wednesday. Bonderud, a past Trumpet editor, is now editing the Sunday feature papers of the Wartburg Press, Columbus, Ohio.

Purpose of Bonderud's visit to the campus, besides the alumni meeting, is to talk to students who are interested in religious journalism or in writing for church publications. All who would like to meet or talk to Bonderud will be able to do so at a coffee hour sponsored by Alpha Phi Gamma Monday in Wartburg Hall from 3:30 to 5 p.m.

HAGEN AT BAND MEET

Ernest Hagen, Music Department, is attending the American College Bandmasters Convention this weekend. The meeting is being held at Northwestern University, Evanston, Ill.

Library Contracts Are Let

CONSTRUCTION WILL START soon on the latest addition to Wartburg campus — the new library building.

Gethmann's Bid Gets Main Job

Bids totaling more than $250,000 were approved this week as contracts were signed for Wartburg's new library building. Winning contractor for general building was the Gethmann Construction Company, Gladbrook.

Waverly Plumbing had the lowest bid on the mechanical contracts while General Equipment, Waverly, submitted the lowest bid for electrical work.

CONSTRUCTION IS scheduled to get under way as soon as weather permits, according to a spokesman for the Gethmann Company. With an 80,000-volume capacity, the structure will be erected south of Knights Gymnasium.

Total cost of the building, including furnishings and architect's fees, will run over $300,000. Completion date has been set for the summer of 1959.

THE BUILDING, which will seat close to four hundred students, is constructed so that future expansion will be comparatively simple. Included in the ground floor will be an audio-visual aids room, classroom, lounge, receiving room, reading room and stack area.

On the main floor will be a lobby with a checkout desk and card catalog. The periodical room and the main reading room will also be located here.

A two-level stack area will provide space for almost sixty thousand volumes. Plans call for the continuation of the open stack system.

The library is the eighth major building project on the campus in the past 10 years. Clinton Hall, men's dorm, will be completed this summer while a chapel-auditorium is the next building on schedule.

New Volume For Liemohn

"The Singing Church," a book by Dr. Edwin Liemohn, director of the Wartburg Choir, has recently been accepted for publication by the Wartburg Press, Columbus, Ohio.

Dealing with the part the congregation has taken in the worship service since Old Testament times, the work traces the emphasis on singing by the congregation to singing by the clergy and choir and back to the congregation.

Martin Luther's encouragement of hymn singing and John Calvin's support of psalm singing are studied together with the transition toward hymn singing in the psalm singing church bodies.

"The Singing Church" will be a companion volume to my book 'The Chorale Through 400 Years,' published by the Muhlenberg Press of Philadelphia in 1953," explained Liemohn. "While the first volume is concerned exclusively with the Lutheran tradition of church song, 'The Singing Church' takes in the broader area of congregational singing in the various branches of Protestantism," he added.

Free Fun!

South Wing Centennial will be sponsoring an all-school "Fun Night" this evening at 7:30 in Knights Gym.

With "It's All for Fun and it's all for Free" as a theme, the informal program will include everything from badminton to pinochle. Refreshments will be served. There will be no admission.

'Does Ike Still Control Presidency?' College Students Queried By ACP

Minneapolis — (ACP) — Presidential Aide Sherman Adams recently made a speech at nearly the same time as one made by the President himself. Press reports on the speech pointed out what appeared to be contradictions between what the two men said.

Some commentators indicated they felt these contradictions were evidence that the President was no longer in control of the administration.

To obtain the opinion of American college students on this issue, Associated Collegiate Press National Poll of Student Opinion asked the following question in a recent survey:

In a recent address, Presidential Aide Sherman Adams made some remarks which seemed to contradict President Eisenhower's feeling on certain topics. The theory was later advanced that this was an indication the President doesn't really have control of the present administration. Do you think this theory is true, or do you think it is untrue? Why?

Results indicate that the college men interviewed tend to disagree with the statement rather strongly, while a slightly larger proportion of coeds interviewed, on the other hand, feel the statement is true. Complete results of answers to the question are as follows:

	Men	Women	Total
Think the statement is true	35%	36%	35%
Think the statement is untrue	47%	32%	41%
Undecided	18%	32%	24%

Although the men and women interviewed were split on their feelings toward the statement, almost equal proportions of both of them agreed with the theory that the president really does not have control of his administration. A substantially higher proportion of men than women, however, feel the statement is untrue.

KNIGHT BEAT

by Bob Loslo

Perry Como's hit song is just another example that there's nothing new under the sun. John Donne, who lived from 1573 to 1631, had this for the first line of one of his poems: "Go and catch a falling star."

Seems as if no one will complain about weather like this, even if the ice-skating party showed more promise as a skin-diving party. When one student was asked if he wasn't driving to school, he replied, "Are you kidding? I wouldn't miss this chance to walk and soak up some of that beautiful, invigorating, temperate Iowa spring-like weather. And besides, I'm out of gas."

If you want to make the play cast of "Beyond the Horizon" happy and still go to South Dakota, see the play Thursday night. But if you want to make us even happier, you take our parts and let us go to South Dakota.

The only other bad thing about this NCAA tourney bid is that Cy Wainscott won't be around to write an editorial about it. Even if the students don't, the faculty certainly re-

St. Paul's Dr. W. F. Schmidt Works For Good Church-College Understanding

By Joan Pape

"St. Paul's is the Wartburg student's church away from home."

Thus Dr. W. F. Schmidt, pastor of St. Paul's Lutheran Church in Waverly, describes the relationship between the church and Wartburg College.

Dr. Schmidt, a man to be looked up to for his stature as well as for his achievements, is well-grounded in student life and interests, for he has previously served as a teacher at three different colleges: Spokane College, Spokane, Wash.; Concordia College, Moorhead, Minn.; and St. Paul Luther College, St. Paul, Minn. He was also president of St. Paul Luther for seven years.

FOR THE LAST 14 YEARS and at the present time, Dr. Schmidt has been continuing his services to education as a member of the Board of Higher Education of the American Lutheran Church. He has been chairman of this group for 10 years.

Just before coming to Waverly in 1948, Dr. Schmidt was pastor in Youngstown, Ohio. He acknowledges that he is especially proud of this period in his ministry.

THREE BLIND MICE?

Janssen Watches Over Rats

By Marsha Starck

The scientist — a dedicated man. This description aptly fits senior Erwin Janssen, whose latest undertaking finds him devoting more time each week to the care of 25 albino rats than he spends feeding himself.

"I spend about fifteen to twenty hours each week working with my experimental rats," Janssen explained. My research work with them is a real challenge."

Erv became interested in his project through Dr. Peter Klein of the Argonne National Laboratory, near Chicago, where he was employed at the laboratory as a student aid last summer. The research with the rats basically consists of a study of various dietary effects.

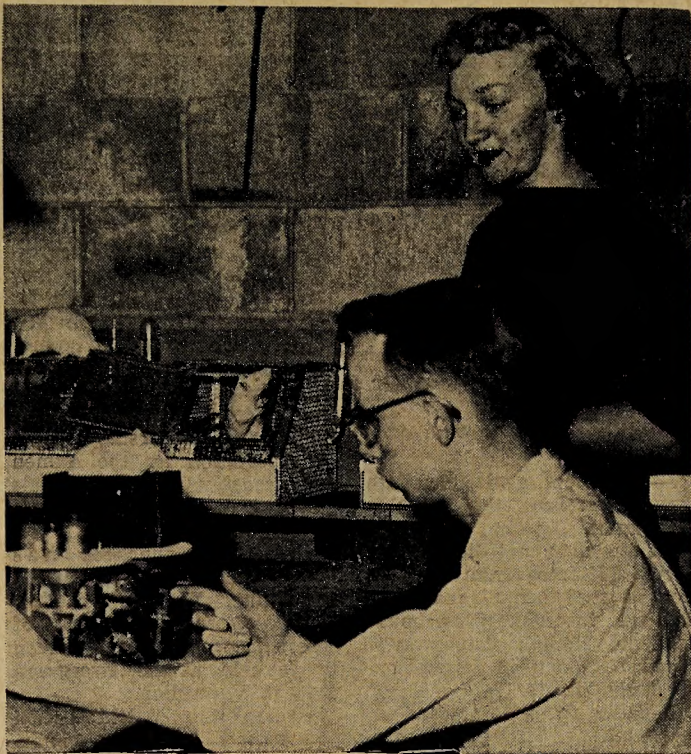

"THERE WAS NO equipment here for my experiment, so I had to start from scratch. Evidently these are the first experimental animals on campus for some time. Elmer Steffen helped me so much," Erv said. "He fixed up a place in the maintenance building for the rats and built some storage shelves for me.

Although women are traditionally supposed to be horrified of mice and rats, Erv finds his wife Maurine helpful in his research.

"MAURINE AND I weigh the rats every other night. She handles them just like any other animal," Erv chuckled and explained, "Maurine even lets me use her food chopper to grind and mix the different diets."

Gaining weight steadily since they arrived on campus in December, the rats require about an hour of attention each evening just for feeding purposes.

"I divided the rats into six different groups when they first arrived. In order to tell them apart," Erv said, as he picked up one of his pets and let it sit on his shoulder, "I put an identifying mark on each of their tails."

OUTLINING HIS research procedure, Janssen stated that a different diet is fed to each group of rats. The actual analysis is done every two weeks when blood is drawn from the animals.

"My brother Werner and Bruce Friedrich help me with the process," he remarked, "and then we separate the cholesterol from the blood and analyze it and compare the six different groups."

"The complete analysis every other week takes me about two and a half days, if I work steady," said the busy chem-

Knights Face North Central Champ

Will Play Friday Evening; Tourney Site Indefinite

Wartburg will face the champion of the North Central Conference, either the University of South Dakota or South Dakota State College, when they participate for the second straight year in the second annual post-season National Collegiate Athletic Association tournament starting next Friday. This is the fifth tournament bid the Knights have received in seven years.

Location and team may be decided tonight when the front-running University of South Dakota Coyotes, Vermillion, travel to Brookings to face runner-up South Dakota State. If the Coyotes defeat the Jackrabbits, they will sew up the conference crown.

However, according to South Dakota State officials, the University has never won a basketball game at Brookings. The Coyotes, coached by Dwane Cloutfelter, have a 10-0 loop record while the Jackrabbits have a 9-2 mark.

Tuesday night the University has to play Morningside, currently tied for last place with Iowa State Teachers with a 2-8 record. If the Coyotes should lose both games the race would end in a tie and would have to be played off.

THE OTHER PAIRING for the tourney will send Gustavus Adolphus, St. Peter, Minn., against the champion of the Midwest Conference, either Knox College, Galesburg, Ill., or Carleton College, Northfield, Minn.

Currently Carleton is on top of the heap with a record of 11-3 while Knox, 10-4, is breathing down their neck. Both teams have games to play.

Gustavus Adolphus is in second place in the Minnesota Intercollegiate Athletic Association with a record of 11-4, trailing Duluth who leads with 14-1 in loop play. The Gusties were selected as an at-large team as was Wartburg.

THE NCAA TOURNAMENT has been revised this year, following the first experimental classic last year. This year 32 teams have been chosen, 14 of whom were automatic qualifiers by winning the crown in their conferences. Eight four-team regional tourneys have been set up with Wartburg playing in the Midwest Regional.

Winners of the Regional clashes will travel to Evansville, Ill., March 12-14 to play in the finals. The victor of the Midwest group will face the winner of the Southwest in the first round; in the second round the winner will play the top team from the Great Lakes-Pacific Coast battle. Finally the winner of that clash will face the champion of the Northeast-South Central and East-Mideast entanglement to determine the national champion.

LAST YEAR WARTBURG traveled to Denver, Colo., to take on highly touted Regis College and was edged 88-82. Wheaton College, Wheaton, Ill., eventually emerged from the fray as National Champion, defeating Kentucky Wesleyan 89-65.

In the National Athletic Intercollegiate Association tournament to be held at Cedar Rapids in the Coe College field-house March 5-6, Upper Iowa, Central, Iowa Wesleyan and Coe will battle it out.

Jomen On Road After Sixth Win

Wartburg's matmen will try to extend their record to 6-3 this afternoon when they face Loras College at Dubuque.

In their final home match, the matmen scored three early falls, then coasted in with a 21-11 decision over Upper Iowa, Saturday afternoon. The match marked the opening of wrestling competition with the Peacocks, who just this year initiated the sport.

Coach Norm Johansen's grapplers quickly amassed a 15-point bulge, winning the first three matches by falls.

Norm Friedrichs at 123 pounds needed only 52 seconds for a pin, while the Chellevoid guillotine did the job in 1:16. "They must be double parked!" was a spectator's observation.

John Schiek and Bruce Brye, both winning by decisions, protected the Jomen's margin of victory.

The Trumpet has a listing of people looking for rides to the tournament and who are willing to share expenses.

Senior Cagers Near End; Central Last Loop Game

Four seniors, John Adix, Fred Jaspers, Roger Klingman and Mel Frahm will don basketball togs in Iowa Conference play for the last time when Coach Ax Bundgaard's Knights wind up regular season play against Central at Pella tonight.

Central will be making its final bid for a share in the conference crown. Coach Marinus Kregel's quintet are currently riding in second place behind Upper Iowa with a 13-2 record in loop play and a 16-3 overall.

SENIOR CENTER Virgil Dykstra, 6'4" center, is considered by coaches and players around the conference as one of the most improved players to don a cage uniform this year. He dumped in 24 counters against the Knights earlier in the season when Central dumped Wartburg 69-54.

SCHULTE GRABBED 11 rebounds to finish second in that department as Dykstra picked 18 off the backboards in that game. Central's only two conference losses came at the hands of Upper Iowa and Simpson, the last being a 1-point upset by the Redmen.

Forward John Adix, who started his 100th consecutive game against Simpson last night, will lead the Axmen as they make a bid to move into third place in the loop. Jaspers, fourth-leading scorer and third-leading rebounder, will bow out tonight, except for post-season play, as well as Mel Frahm, center, who has seen limited action this year. Roger Klingman is the other senior.

Knights Fall To Simpson

INDIANOLA — Red-hot Simpson tromped on Wartburg last night 81-64 to virtually kill all chances for a third place finish in the conference.

The Knights moved ahead 1-0 on a free throw by Fred Jaspers as the game began, but Bill Austin, 5'10" guard, threw in a field goal to put Simpson into a lead they never relinquished.

AUSTIN WAS HIGH point man for the Redmen with 24 counters while John Tuecke, center, paced the Axmen with 15. Simpson hit 29 out of 70 field goal attempts for a 41.4 percentage while the cool Knights, hemmed in by a tight zone defense, could connect on only 23 of 81 shots for a percentage of 28.4.

Trailing 41-31 at half-time, the Knights were swamped by Simpson as they came out of the locker-room to hit 15 of their first 30 attempts from the field. With 5:23 left in the rout, Coach Les Deaton substituted heavily, relying on a 80-52 lead. The Axmen managed to cut the lead to 17 points as the game ended.

WARTBURG'S HIGH-FLYING Knights powered to their fifth straight win as they soared past Iowa State Teachers College at Cedar Falls, 62-56, in a non-loop contest, last Saturday night.

Wartburg scrambled to an early lead and then staved off a determined ISTC rally late in the game to clinch the victory. The game was marred by rough play, Norm Remmers, Dave Jensen and Fred Jaspers being sidelined with injuries.

LED BY 6'4" center Remmers, the Knights retaliated with an eight-point spurt, to move away, 50-39. The two teams then battled on even terms until a late Panther rally cut the final margin to six points.

'Beyond The Horizon' On Player Stage 3 Times

Wartburg Players will raise the curtain on their winter production, "Beyond the Horizon," Thursday at 8 p.m. in the Little Theater. Second performance will be given Friday, with the final presentation set for Saturday.

Written by Eugene O'Neill, a three-time Pulitzer prize winner, the play takes root from an experience in O'Neill's own life as a merchant seaman.

THIS SEAMAN, Robert Mayo, is played by senior Bill Melvin. His role portrays the drama of a man born with the craving of the sea's unrest. To Robert it is a conscious craving, but it soon becomes a vague and intangible wanderlust.

As Robert is about to embark on a voyage with his uncle, he discovers he has fallen in love with his brother's fiancée. The girl, Ruth, played by junior Marlene Haibeck, casts off the brother, Andrew, senior Bob Loslo, and marries Robert. Andrew sails away in Robert's place and Robert accepts the hard life of a farmer.

RUTH DISCOVERS that her marriage to Robert is a mistake and that she still loves Andrew. So three years pass and Robert, sick and disillusioned, with only his child to comfort him, fails to make a go of it on the farm. To add to the disillusionment, Andrew returns for only a short time to bring unhappiness to both Robert and Ruth.

Additional roles are those of Kate Mayo, played by sophomore Kathryn Koob; Dr. Fawcett, junior Louis Becker; and Captain Dick Scott, by senior Jon Tehven. Other characters include Lois Sonsteli, freshman; Bob Kroeger, senior; and Bill Jurgens, senior.

O'Neill, winner of the Nobel prize in 1936 in addition to the Pulitzer awards, is considered one of America's leading dramatists.

Debaters Journey To Drake Tourney

Five Wartburg speech students will travel to Drake University, Des Moines, next weekend for the Iowa Forensics Association tournament. Iris Heaney and John Werner, seniors, and sophomores Jim Eis-singer and Dean Engbrecht will participate in debate.

Taking part in group discussions at the forensic tourney will be Eissinger, Engbrecht and Grace Jahn, freshman. Werner and Miss Heaney will participate in oratory. Miss Heaney and Engbrecht will take part in extemporaneous speaking, whereas entrants in poetry reading are Miss Jahn and John Werner.

Tickets Out

Tickets for the final performance in this year's March 18 Artist Series will be on sale in the treasurer's office Thursday and Friday during regular office hours. This performance will feature the world-famous Roger Wagner Chorale. Students must present activity tickets.

Convos Set

Convocation on Tuesday will feature Dr. Henry E. Hoesman, director of evangelism of the American Lutheran Church. Besides appearing in convocation, Dr. Hoesman will speak at chapel and to the Parish Mission Builders.

Thursday Pres. C. H. Becker will speak on the theme of the future plans for Wartburg College.

Alumni Convene To Ponder Plans

Alumni Board will hold a special meeting Tuesday at 10 a.m. in Fuchs Lounge. Eighteen board members plus class agents from nearby areas are expected to attend the gathering.

The group will discuss ways to reach the goal of the three-way development program, which involves funds for Clinton Hall, the library and the chapel-auditorium. The plan, design and location of the chapel-auditorium will be discussed, and action by the executive committee in adopting the three-way plan as an alumni project will be reviewed.

Men Might Get Housemothers

A resolution calling for the placing of housemothers in men's dorms next year will be proposed to the Dean of Students by the Academic Life Committee, according to Julius Roehl, chairman.

According to Roehl, the committee felt that this would eliminate much of the noise and other problems which are now present in dormitory life. In other discussion the committee considered the problem of cheating in classes, which is facing the administration at present.

LET'S MEET FRIENDS

Weather Getting Kathi — Is It Spring Or Not?

By Kathi

Hi! What a world! It isn't winter and it doesn't seem to be spring yet either (even if spring fever has set in). There isn't too much on the organizational line this week. And all I've had this week is tests and that with mid-semester due week after this! Wish spring would come, so that my spring fever would be legal.

Frenz

By now everyone knows that the Knights received a bid to the NCAA this coming Friday and Saturday. A Pep Rally is planned for Thursday to give the team a rousing send-off. I know without urging, that all students will turn out. And since you may be excused from classes on Friday afternoon, I think everyone should get a ride of some sort and go help cheer the boys on to victory.

I said everyone but didn't mean it I guess. The students acting in and producing the play "Beyond the Horizon" (Eugene O'Neill) won't quite make it. The play goes on stage Thursday, Friday and Saturday evenings at 8.

The cast includes several veteran actors. Some newcomers too. Activity tickets will admit you free. (That is, unless you consider how much the activity ticket cost to start with.)

Journalists (and all others interested in writing), attention!!! Alpha Phi Gamma is holding an informal coffee hour Monday from 3:30 to 5 p.m. Omar Bonderud, editor of Lutheran Youth and two other youth magazines, will be the guest. That's in Wartburg Hall Lounge.

Lenten services are held at St. Paul's Church every Wednesday and Friday evening at 8 p.m. Students are encouraged to attend one of these services regularly.

Bible Discussion groups meet this Sunday at 9 a.m. in St. Paul's Parish Hall. The topics have been unusually interesting. In fact Herbie Hafermann has been accused of being a Mormon, he does such a good job of presenting the Mormon beliefs!

As is fairly obvious, the ice melted this week. As a consequence, Centennial Hall South Wing had to cancel its ice skating party.
